LENN OARE TO TRY FIVE LIQUOR CASES

In search of a trial judge other than Judge Omacht, five liquor law violators Monday selected upon one man as special judge in each of their five cases.

After the prosecutor and defendants' council had struck four names off each list submitted by court, the name of Atty. Lenn J. Oare remained in each one of the five. The defendants were represented by three different attorneys.

The cases which went over to be tried by Special Judge Oare, were John Kovach, charged with unlawful possession and manufacturing, and James Vargo, Eliek Csalo, George Plenti and Mike Matejevic, charged with unlawful possession.

ROBBERS NEARING CITY. According to information received here from the Kendallville, Ind., police, who declared it was their belief that the robbers with their loot were headed this way, a cigar store there had been broken into late Sunday night and 10 cases of cigars of various brand, comprising the store's entire stock of "fags" had been stolen.

Enters Home, Burglar Gets Two Diamond Rings

Anticipating the arrival of the police, summoned by telephone to the home of Mrs. Mary Flanagan, 714 Forest av., shortly after midnight Monday morning, a burglar, after ransacking the premises left the house, his booty consisting of two small rings. The rings, belonging to Mrs. Flanagan, were set with diamond chips and were of nominal value. Investigation by the police showed the burglar had effected an entry through the rear door of the home by the use of a skeleton key, the door being left open by his evildoer's haste to make his get-away.

PLATNER WIRES FOR PIPE. George Platner, Main Street Tobacco Merchant, has wired from Indianapolis for his favorite W. D. C. Pipe. In driving down, Mr. Platner at the wheel, was smoking his old pipe, when a gust of wind swept it away. Do you feel the loss of your pipe at times? Get a good one at Platner's.
